JOB OF THE WEEK

This week's video focuses on the job role of a Web Designer.

They are responsible for creating the design & layout of a website or web pages. Unlike web developers, who specialise in creating new websites' structures & the code that forms these, web designers tend to focus on the visual aspects of a site. Watch the video to learn more.

LABOUR MARKET INFORMATION FACT

UCAS, with the Sutton Trust, release a flagship report into apprenticeships seeking to understand the barriers and choices made in the decision-making of would-be apprentices. Three in five (61%) former applicants did not pursue an apprenticeship because they could not find one in their preferred location.

DESIGN AND TECHNOLOGY ASSOCIATION

DESIGNED FOR LIFE - SERIES OF PODCASTS

Out Now and already searchable on all major podcast platforms.

A new series of podcasts, searchable under the banner of Designed for Life. A series of stories, chats and casual conversations with inspiring and groundbreaking creative people brought to you by the Design and Technology Association in association with The Edge Foundation. They discuss their lives, what they are trying to achieve and the fantastic and creative things they are doing with technology. It's not all about success, it's also what they have learned from failure.

Some of the clips from the podcasts will be directly usable in the classroom for students. The series of podcasts' aim is to bring the worlds of education and industry closer together, an initiative that the D&T Association is currently working very hard to achieve.

Podcasts now Live

Jay Blades - Designer and presenter of the BBC's The Repair Shop

Michael Omotosho - Industrial Designer

Coming soon:

We have a number of exciting, and inspirational guests lined up in this series, including:

Brian Oppenheim - We meet Brian Oppenheim one of Her Majesties lead inspectors, a former teacher and head of design and technology and currently an experienced lead inspector with responsibility for the subject.

Dids Macdonald and Anne Sampson - We talk with Dids Macdonald OBE Co-founder and Chief Executive of ACID (Anti-copying in Design).
